

Peter Pasternack Star of A&E's Flip This House Launches The Investor's Blueprint For Real Estate Investors

By Neil Howe and Craig Williams

Stars of 'Flip This House', the original house flipping program on A&E Peter Pasternack and Brian Trow partner with business coach and strategist Denny Faircloth to bring their knowledge of real estate investing and entrepreneurial savvy to help aspiring real estate investors avoid costly mistakes and squeeze more profit from every deal with their new community, The Investor's Blueprint.

After being featured on national television in seasons 3, 4 and 5 of A&E's hit house flipping show Peter and Brian have done thousands of real estate deals and have mentored anyone who reaches out for help. However, unlike many of the celebrity flippers who have used the stardom to create real estate events and seminars Peter and Brian have been busy actually closing deals and flipping houses.

"Anyone who knows me knows my life mission is to positively affect the lives of as many people as possible. I had no interest in only serving the privileged few that could come up with $30K to $50K. Frankly, that's a rip-off. If someone has $50K to invest, they should invest it in real estate, not some guru!" – Peter Longtime friend and business coach Denny Faircloth asked the same question that many people had asked, "Why haven't you created a course or seminar from your knowledge?" This conversation sparked a new way of sharing that knowledge in a tell and see all course where real estate investors get to see first-hand the real issues that take place during a real estate investment deal with on-site video coverage.

"Rather than spending precious time and money, traveling, staying in hotels and sitting in seminars being inundated with mountains of information. Only to go home feeling confused and overwhelmed, left to try and implement it alone. You can get ongoing guidance, support, and accountability online anytime from The Investor's Blueprint." – Denny

The Investors Blueprint is designed to give access to the experts in the areas of construction and design (Brian Trow), deal analysis, management and operations (Peter Pasternack) and success mindset (Denny Faircloth). In this private community, investors get to watch Real People, doing Real Deals from start to finish, getting Real Results. All the win's losses and everything in between. Regular live Q&A, "Ask the expert" segments, deep dive on important topics and current events from the trenches. It's the real nitty gritty reality of real estate investing from professionals all over the industry. The goal is to build a community of real estate professionals from investors, agents, lenders, contractors, inspectors, wholesalers, etc. to collaborate and lend their expertise to help minimize losses, maximize profits and facilitate more real estate deals for investors all across the country.

"These guys are amazing!!! I love that they have finally put together in the "Investors Blueprint" for real investors – doing real business. These guys are genius & always thinking out the box! They are the next generation of POWER & MONEY!" – Tirrell Muhammad, VP of Business Development, Team World Builders at Keller Williams Realty

The Investor's Blueprint officially launched on Tuesday, July 11th, 2017 and investors can sign up for a low annual subscription. To learn more about The Investor's Blueprint visit, <https://TheInvestorsBlueprint.com> or to contact Peter email Peter@TheInvestorsBlueprint.com
